

Kat Howard:

Curriculum, Leadership, Implementation.

Thursday 29th February 2024 | 8.30am - 1.30pm
Oceanside Hotel, Newquay, TR7 1HN

In this session, Kat will provide a comprehensive insight into the key aspects that lead to the successful design, implementation and evaluation of curriculum development. Taking a consideration of the substance of what we teach and how this is enacted, refined and evaluated over time, attendees will explore the principles regarding what it means to place curriculum at the heart of a team's endeavors. The session will provide attendees with:

- Why and how effective curriculum development is synonymous with professional fulfilment, talent development and teacher retention.
- How to review curriculum intention with teams at all layers as a collaborative process.
- Codifying curriculum design and implementation in a way that is co-constructed by all.
- Considered implementation including teaching principles for curriculum-informed teaching and where interdisciplinary work plays vital role for this in both primary and secondary settings.
- Attending the professional development needs for highly effective curriculum teaching.
- Evaluation as a continual process of school strategy.
